

POETRY.

FROM THE CHATELAIN GAZETTE.
TRYING TO PLEASE EVERYBODY.

HINTS TO EDITORS.
One reader cries, your strain's too grave,
Too much morality you have,
Too much about religion;
Give me some witch and wizard tales,
Of slaphash ghosts with fins and scales,
And feathers like a pigeon.

I love to read, another cries,
Those monstrous fashionable lies;
In other words, those novels,
Composed of kings, and priests, and lords,
Of border wars, and Gothic hordes,
That used to live in hovels.

No, no, cries one, we've had enough
Of such confounded love-sick stuff,
To craze the fair creation;
Give us some recent foreign news,
Of Russians, Turks, the Poles or Jews,
Or any other nation.

The man of dull scholastic lore
Would like to see a little more
Of first-rate scraps of Latin.
The grocer vain would learn the price
Of tea and sugar, fruit and rice;
The draper, silks and satin.

Another cries, I want more fun,
A witty anecdote or pun,
A riddle or a riddle.
Some wish for parliamentary news,
And some, perhaps, of wiser views,
Would rather hear a fiddle.

The critic, too, of classic skill,
Must dip in gall his gander-quill,
And scrawl against the paper;
Of all the literary fools,
Bred in our colleges and schools,
He cuts the greatest caper.

Another cries, I want to see
A jumbled-up variety,
Variety in all things;
A miscellaneous hodge-podge print,
Composed—only give the hint—
Of multifarious small things.

I want some marriage news, says miss,
It constitutes my highest bliss,
To hear of weddings plenty;
For in a time of general rain,
None suffer from a drought, 'tis plain,
At least not one in twenty.

I want to hear of deaths, says one,
Of people totally undone,
By losses, fire, or fever.
Another answers, full as wise,
I'd rather have the fall and rise
Of racoon skins and beaver.

Some signify a secret wish
For now and then a favorite dish
Of politics to suit them;
But here we rest at perfect ease,
For should they swear the moon was cheese,
We never should confute them.

Or grave, or humorous, wild or tame,
Lofly or low, 'tis all the same,
Too haughty or too humble;
So, Brother Editors, pursue,
The path that seems the best to you,
And let the grumblers grumble.

ORIGINAL POETRY.—For the benefit of posterity we publish the following lines, (says the Philadelphia Times), and call attention to their peculiar merit:

When weary I am,
I smoke my cigar;
And as the smoke rises,
And gets into my eyes,
I think of thee, dearest,
And oh, how I sigh.

A CARD.
DOCTOR JOHN W. LEWIS, having purchased the residence and office of Dr. Joseph B. OUTLAW, on Fayetteville street, and having determined to locate permanently in the city of Raleigh, respectfully offers his Professional services to the inhabitants thereof, and the surrounding country.

Raleigh, August 14, 1839. 250-3f.

A CARD.
DOCT. JOSEPH B. OUTLAW, in yielding assent to the inducement, which now impels his removal from this city, to Lagrange, in the State of Tennessee, cannot take leave of his numerous friends and generous employers in this city and its vicinity, without recording the deep emotions of respect, attachment, and gratitude of his heart, for the kind and prompt manner they took him by the hand, and gave to him a lucrative practice when he settled among them; and for what was still more gratifying to his feelings and his pride, their abiding esteem and good will for himself and his family.

This was what he expected, from the warm-hearted and noble-spirited citizens of the Metropolis of his own beloved Carolina.

Mountains may separate us, but he will never, till life's last throbbing pulse ceases, pray—God bless them. His regrets at parting, however, are diminished by the gratification he feels in having it in his power to announce to his friends in particular, and to this community generally, that he will be succeeded in his practice, and at his old stand, by DOCTOR JOHN W. LEWIS; and he need only add, that Dr. Lewis' worth as an experienced Physician and perfect gentleman is too well known where he has resided, to need commendation from him. But he deems it every way fortunate to this community, that they will have such a valuable accession as the Doctor and his amiable family will be.

As the first of October ensuing will find Dr. OUTLAW and his family on the road to their new home, it becomes necessary that his business in this State be at once brought to a close, and obliges him to appoint Mr. JAMES EDWARDS as his Agent, and place his claims in the County generally in his hands for settlement; and it will certainly add greatly to his obligations, if all concerned will hold themselves in readiness to settle with said Agent, when he calls. But for his necessary absence from home much of his time, before leaving for the West, Doctor OUTLAW would regard it both as a duty and pleasure to make these calls for settlement in person.

Holt's Cure for the Tooth-ache.

THIS preparation (a wash) is applied to the part affected, and without the disagreeable necessity of extracting the tooth, instantly removes the most excruciating pain. By gargling the throat, it completely remedies cancer sores—a disease prevalent among children. By swallowing a teaspoonful morning and evening, an acid or foul stomach is corrected. It sweetens the breath, and is the best cleanser and preserver of the teeth, now known. Those who desire to obtain this article must be particular to inquire for Holt's Cure for the Tooth-ache, as others are in the market; and they would not wish to assume the merit or censure which justly belongs to another. Among the thousands who have used Holt's Cure for the Tooth-ache, no instance is known of its having failed in effecting a perfect cure.

The following letter, attesting to the efficacy of "Holt's Cure for the Tooth-ache," is from a gentleman well known in the literary world as the author of the "Letters about the Hudson," and other productions of merit; and will, undoubtedly, be read with interest. To C. E. Holt—My dear Sir—It affords me great pleasure to bear testimony to the efficacy of your "Cure for the Tooth-ache." It has been used in my family, and proved entirely successful in giving immediate and permanent relief to one of the most irritating and disagreeable pains that "flesh is heir to"—viz: the tooth-ache. Your very obliged, &c. FREEMAN HUNT.

New York March, 18 1839.
For the Tooth-ache—Hold the wash in the mouth till the pain ceases.
For Sore Mouth—Gargle three times a day.
For a bad Stomach—Swallow a tea spoon full morning and night.
For Cleaning Teeth—Use it with a brush, which also sweetens the Breath.

The above medicine is for sale at the office of THE NORTH CAROLINA STANDARD. Price 50 cents per bottle—it will be sold at a liberal discount by the quantity. J. LORING, General Agent. For sale also by WILLIAM WARE of Wilmington, N. C. Raleigh, Feb. 6, 1838. 223-4f.

PROSPECTUS.

Henderson Car.

THE subscriber proposes to publish in Henderson, Granville Co. N. C. a weekly Newspaper with the above title. The town of Henderson, situated on the Rail Road, midway between Raleigh and Gaston, has sprung into existence within a few months; and surrounded by a fertile, populous and extensive district of country, (the produce of which will be carried there for sale or transportation) promises to become a place of great trade. The low rates of freight, and the facilities for obtaining, at all times, full supplies of goods from other markets, give it a decided advantage over towns, located on rivers, which are navigable only at certain seasons of the year. Experience has now clearly proved that the advantages of speedy transportation on Rail Roads, more than counterbalance the increase of expense. Receiving the Northern and Southern Mails daily, and having a tri-weekly Western Mail to branch off at the Office of The North Carolina Standard, and general intelligence. For the great convenience of those ordering goods to the Depot, a list of all packages received will be carefully published every week.

The "HENDERSON CAR" will advocate the re-election of the present Chief Magistrate, and support his Administration. Its publication will commence as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers can be obtained; and the necessary arrangements made for publishing an efficient paper in proper style.

Terms: Three Dollars per annum, or Two Dollars and Fifty Cents if paid in advance, or in one month after the receipt of the first number. WILL. E. WYCHE. Henderson, July 10, 1839. 246 f f.
